

CORPORATE OVERVIEW

On a daily basis, businesses are engaged in the ultimate balancing act as they manage highly variable demand with a constant supply of workers. To address this challenge, Wonolo provides an on-demand staffing marketplace and technology platform to mobilize a flexible workforce that can be easily scaled up or down as business needs shift.

From one integrated platform, businesses can manage their teams – whether their own worker pool, Wonolo's community of vetted on-demand workers, or a hybrid of both – and schedule work all in one place. Through this model, workers can be dispatched at a moment's notice, while enabling companies with the technology to seamlessly manage work across teams. Our vision is to provide flexibility for both businesses who want to be nimble as they manage unpredictable work, and for people who are looking to work but want the freedom only the on-demand economy can provide.

Our History

Backed by The Coca-Cola Company through the Coca-Cola Founders program, Wonolo launched in January 2014 in the San Francisco Bay Area. Other investors include CrunchFund, PivotNorth Capital, and Foundry Group.
